SEASON DYING AT BLUE RIDGE

But It Is Passing Away Gracefully and With Every Possible Comfort.

THE ENUMERATION OF SOME

An Ex-Governor Arrives-Those Who Are Helping to Make Life Gay.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, VA., Septem br 16.-The season is gracefully dying, two trained nurses, who look after its every comfort and pleasure by day and night, for during the early hours of the latter the dance is still on, and as the nights grow cooler is entered into with more zeal and energy, by not only the younger set, but the chaperones get gay and glddy and take part in the merry pastime.

The days are full of attentions, opening up on the week's calendar with a large bowling party, given by Mr. T. B. E. Spencer, of Reanoke. Twenty bowlers contended for the honor of first place, which was won by Mr. James W. Woods, and Miss Arnold Walke, of Norfolk, easily captured the second prize. Fruit and bonbons were served during the game.

A TENNIS MATCH.

A match game of tennis was played on the Blue Ridge court between Virginia and Florida, which resulted in a spirited contest, in favor of Virginia. Professor Evans, of Bedford City, and Dr. H. E. Price, of Montvale, represented the Old Dominion, and Mr. Frank Winthrop and Mr. Guy Winthrop upheld the bunner of Florida. The score rend: First set, 6-0, in favor of Virginia; second set, 6-2, for Virginia; third set, 12-10, in favor of Florida; fourth set, 9-7, in favor of Virginia. This game was one of a series of three, two of which were played at Montvale.

vale.

Cards have lost none of their prestige, and several parties have been given during the week, which, in elegance of appointments and detail, have not been equalled during the season. The first of these was given jointly by Mrs. Beauregard Cowan and Mrs. Percy Cowan, of Vicksburg, Miss. "Bridge" was the game, at the conclusion of which an elaborate supper was served in five courses to a party of eight players.

PROGRESSIVE BRIDGE.

Mrs. Percy, of Greenville, Miss., entertained four tables at progressive bridge whist, on Tuesday evening, which was unique in arrangement, and perfect in detail. The tally cards were flowers, hand painted, in water colors, red carnations for gentlemen and narcissus for ladies Mrs. Percy Cowan was the prize winner, and is now in possession of a bridge whist set, incased in leather, as a sign of her victory.

At the close of the game an elegant supper was served in courses, with the usual "trimmings," which are necessary adjuncts where tonsts are in order. The afforces of this well regulated and dignified resort.
